MEMPHIS APPEAL

SATURDAY, 1 : JUNE 10, 1876. THE INDEPENDENT BOSH.

The Liberals and Independents seem disposed to die hard. The bright and shining lights of these haters of Democracy can do nothing but growl. A sporndic effort is made occasionally to manufacture strength for Judge Davis and thus repeat the disastrous Greeley campaign of 1872. But the National Democracy has washed its hands of all entangling alliances and will make a bold fight under its own banner. This is the only way to succeed and to be worthy of success. If there be a Democrat in Tennessee or any of the southern States, who reads the APPEAL and is inclined to the belief that there is anything to be gained by another fusion, we beg him to read the following extract from the New York World: "The notion that the Democracy should forsake its own function as a party and shape itself to suit the ambitions or the opinions of a handful of discontented Republicans, was put to the test in 1872, and is rather out of date in 1876. In 1872 a number of these 'Independents' fancied they could insist upon the mountain coming to them, instead of going to the mountain. Senator Bayard alone and hero; ically, but in vain, warned the Democracy against listening to them. What Never did a great party show more use-1872. Democratic leaders abandoned imminent national peril, they consented to a compromise platform. They vireral power in the hope of getting rid of the misgovernment which was destroy. ing the country. Over two and a half tenths of them reluctantly-cast their ballots for Greeley. What was the result? What thunder in the end came of that loud Cincinnati thunder in the index? A corporal's guard, a Falstaff's regiment of 'Independent' recruits, hardranks in one State through coldness and Democrats surpassed all reasonable expectation in the canvass. The showing of their allies was simply ridiculous. Let a few illustrations show how this Nebraska, claims to know how that all abdication of our rights and our duties more economical administration of the povernment, a reduction of expenditures and taxation. By all means the tariff should be modified, so as not to bear so heavily upon the producing classes, and at the same time to increase the revenue. These facts are worthy of careful study: PEDERAL TAXATION. While you feel the burdens, or imag-atherer, because the tax is not a direct one. I propose to show you, Republicans a well as Democrats, how much Tennessee pays each year on account of the tariff slone. The following table will give you some idea of how much you

y ay, though even this will not reach it Toe table is worthy of careful study: Total 220,600,000 80,370,000 2,975,989

Upon those six articles, or rather classes of articles, the amount paid by Ten-nessee, each year is $2,975,999. This does notineiude salt, glassware, earthenware, tis, silks, rice and various other articles which would make it at least half a million more. These are duties paid to the government, it is true, but the price of and costs: the manufactured article is increased to the extent of the duty upon imports of a similar kind. For instance the duty upon $61,000,000 of the woolen goods is $33,350,000, now the $178,298,521 of woolen goods manufactured in the United States is increased in price fifty-five per cent., so that the amount of duty paid o the manufacturers is at least onehird of the cost of the article, or $57,-

The following shows the duty paid the manufacturers on three articles of which the government receives nothing: Woolen Goods—Amount, $173,298,527; duty, $57,766,175; Tennessee's portion, $4,785,588.

Cotton Goods-Amount, $177,908,687 duty, $29,659,614; Tennessee's portion, $988,353. Iron - Amount, $348,032,910; duty, 558,005,485; Tennessee's portion, $4,983,-These are the only three of the articles upon which we pay duty to the manuacturers in the way of enhanced prices, although the government does not get one dollar that we pay upon American salt, sugar, leather, rice, and various other articles of prime necessity, which are not mentioned; but even woolen and cotton goods and iron manufactures, the amount paid by Tennessee each year to the American manufacturers is $4,847,408, this added to the amount paid to the government on the six other articles above mentioned, makes $7,657,407. This sum appears incredible until we look into it, and then this is only a portion of what is drawn this is only a portion of what is drawn rom Tennessee each year by and through the operations of the tariff. This accounts for our want of prosperity. Our State tax is a mere triff; and those who clamor about that and overlock this enormous federal tax are shutting their eyes against light and knowledge.
